

ACP MTS Programme

ACP MTS Programme

The ACP MTS Programme began operations in March 2009 and ceased in March 2014. It was a successor to the all-ACP capacity-building programme for the WTO that ran from 2002 to 2006. Unlike its predecessor, the ACP MTS Programme had two components: the Multilateral Trading System component and the Enhanced Integrated Framework component.

The main purposes of the Programme are

- To assist ACP countries in reforming and adjusting to the multilateral trading system
 - To improve their capacity to negotiate and implement multilateral trade agreements
 - To integrate trade into the development process of the ACP countries
 - To facilitate accession of ACP member countries to the WTO
