His action, know-how, unwavering commitment, and dedication have significantly impacted democracy in Angola and led to the international recognition of Angola as a major player in the achievement of political stability in Africa and the world.

His leadership is acknowledged at national and international levels. His experience in crisis management allowed him to successfully fulfil his mission at the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region (ICGLR) where he chaired the InterMinisterial Committee.

In March 2016, Mr. Chikoti chaired the United Nations Security Council Public Debate on, 'Peacekeeping and International Security: Prevention and conflict resolution in the Great Lakes Region'.
